IFR World Winner show 2016 21-22.05.2016 Druskininkai, Lithuania

Dear Rottweiler Friends,

The decision by the Meeting of Delegates of 2015 to change the IFR-Constitution led our Federation into a new phase of its existence.

The IFR was founded to worldwide preserve the breed specific characteristics of the Rottweiler. This was necessary as the breed was fast gaining popularity all over the world and was now being bred and kept in diverse countries, in as many diverse cultures and was therefore possibly subject to just as many diverse expectations and then not necessarily those that defined the breed in its original characteristics as a utility breed.

The goal of the IFR may have been clear but the powers of its Executive Board and the instruments at its disposal were insufficiently defined to be effective, in fact the powers and activities of the Board were even limited to ensuring that a Meeting of Delegates would be organized every three years ...

The challenges facing our beloved breed have led to successive changes in the IFR-Constitution. The Constitution now clearly defines the goals of the Federation and the instruments and powers that are at the disposal of the IFR-Board ... but also the conditions that must be met to allow for Membership of the Federation as this Membership is no longer free from obligations but obliges all Memberclubs to an active commitment! This is a new concept that must allow the IFR to be much more active and ambitious than in the past and to outgrow the idea of just being an association that organizes an annual World Show and an IPO World Championship.

The challenges facing our breed, are many.

Showresults have replaced the natural selection of breeding dogs, however not always homogeneous and as we have witnessed in recent years, sometimes even leading the breed away from its definition and this because of personal preferences and/or economic motives. Breeding programs are often all too strongly based on a policy of very close and repeated inbreeding and result into an ever more limited genepool and a dominant consolidation of genetic disorders.

Worldwide, because of strictly cultural but also for economical reasons, we see the breed moving towards the concept of a "pet" or a "showdog", neglecting the physical and mental characteristics of the utility dog. Incidents still lead to breed specific legislation, limiting the breeding and keeping of our beloved breed. Improving the public image of the breed is an absolute must.

These are evolutions that touch the very core of the breed and that we may not ignore. The IFR is not a "superclub" and cannot and will not interfere in national affairs or regulations. It must however be an organisation that actively studies these evolutions and tries to guide where differing national regulations or activities may be insufficient to ensure a worldwide homogeneous compliance of the Rottweiler to the one and only definition of the breed: the FCI-breedstandard. This definition not only concerns the breed's physical characteristics but also its mental compliance and it is not splittable!

For the newly elected Board also, this new concept of the IFR is a challenge in itself but it is one that we are ready to take! After sessions of brainstorming we have decided on a first list of priorities and a work schedule. The inventory of already existing national activities and regulations will now first be updated, then analysed and will, accompanied by our suggestions, be put before the next Seminars of Judges and Breedwardens and of course the Meeting of Delegates. This will concern all the above mentioned aspects, the compliance to the breedstandard and the definition of the Rottweiler as a utility breed which should be reflected in breeding regulations and breed suitability tests, health issues, the assessment of social behaviour, etc. ...

We will not achieve miracles and changes and results might not even be immediately visible, but I assure you that – in close cooperation with all Memberclubs – we will do all within our means to achieve the objectives of the IFR: the keeping and breeding of the Rottweiler as a dog with its worldwide place in modern society, yet without loss of the original characteristics of the Rottweiler as defined by the FCI-breedstandard: a high confidence of character, a social behaviour in family and society and still ever with the aptitude of a utility dog.

On behalf of the IFR-Board,

*Dirk Vandecasteele,
President.*

IFR World Winner show 2016 was organized by Lithuania Rottweiler Club in town Druskininkai.

Lithuania Rottweiler club had great honor to held such great and respectful event in Lithuania.

Great emotions, perfect weather gave possibility to enjoy this event in the best way.

Show joined many participants from different countries. Little town had most beautiful Rottweilers hole weekend! Many respectful guests from all the world visited this show as well as people who wanted to see the breed closer some of them became new Rottweiler Family members already.

Druskininkai is a spa town on the Nemunas River in southern Lithuania, close to the borders of Belarus and Poland. The city of Druskininkai has a population of 20 000 and dates back as a spa resort to the 19th century.

The first written mention of Druskininkai dates back to 1636. The name of the town suggests that the local population collected the precious mineral. In the late 18th century it was believed that minerals found in the waters of Druskininkai area produced health benefits and their usage in the medical treatment of asthma and other ailments began. In the early 19th century, Druskininkai's waters chemical composition was analyzed and showed that they contain large amounts of Calcium, Sodium, Potassium, Iodine, Bromine, Iron and Magnesium. Druskininkai has a lot of spa hotels.

Trophies

Lithuania is famous for its forests and woods. From old times country has great artists who makes amazing art from wood. Wood it is national gold of Lithuania with alive spirit in it. This was the reason IFR World Winner trophies were made from wood.

Lithuania Rottweiler club created trophies especially for this event. They are unique. Trophy of the first place Winners, in each class - the Rottweiler head on trophy was filled with real amber stones.

Wooden medals with show logo were given as memory to each participant and guest of IFR WW 2016.

4 main Winners: Youth Winner male and Female and Adult Winner male and female same as show judges received Ukraine artist handmade ceramic Rottweiler heads in frame, Ukraine Rottweiler Friends helped to pick them and drove them safely to Lithuania.

IFR World Winner BOB was awarded with very special trophy – amber stone with inclusion. It shows insects and even neolithic times tree leaves. Many insect remains are found preserved in amber, it dates from 44 to 130 million years ago, Amber has special value as healing and beauty stone, such country as Japan named Amber - lucky stone and it is must to have it in each family.

Unfortunately not all people has same value, not even value, but education or even more correct to say IQ. Lithuania organization team was deeply insulted by few people in social media, by presenting their bad opinion about trophies. Trophies what was created and selected with love and respect to our nationality and country history to keep everybody special memory of IFR show in Lithuania.

Huge thanks to Polish artist Arek and Arte Perruno team for his sponsorship - 4 amazing bronze Rottweilers sculptures were presented to main winners, Polish Rottweiler Friends transported them from Poland. Many great people with their positive energy made show atmosphere very warm and pleasant.

Lithuania Rottweiler club had honor to hear, that people did so long distance because they think that it is one from honest shows. We were proud to represent IFR in Lithuania.

Happy moments

Opportunity to judge the prestigious IFR World Show is an honor and should be treated as such. It was a joy to accept this invitation and I would like to thank the IFR and Lithuanian team as organizer of this beautiful event with great atmosphere, beautiful, original wooden trophies and great care of judges.

I extended my gratitude to my ring stewards who were very helpful. The 2016 edition took place in wonderful spa town Druskininkai, the town situated close to the borders of Belarus and Poland in the beautiful landscape with rivers, lakes, hills and forests. The weather, a major factor for the show was perfect – sunny, but not too hot and fresh for all. The opening ceremony, when the national anthem of each judge was played and each country entered with national flag, touched my heart. In this moment I had feeling that we were all together around the most important – the Rottweiler. After the ceremony was held the lottery to know who is judging which class. First day I judged Baby females, Puppy males and Junior males classes. Next day it was Open class females and Champion class males. Many exhibits were presented by professional handlers, some by novices who sometimes need more practice. The dogs presented to me appeared to be in good condition and well behaved as they stood for examen, even the very young. I didn't see many too strong and un-typey Rottweiler head piece, more of them were correct in ratio. All of the entries had a correct scissor bite with full dentition, but we must be careful about the largest of lower jaws and size of the teeth. Some of the heads could have more cheek and eye fill. For the classes I judged I can say that there were no problems in pigmentation. In this area we are in very good way. Eyes

mainly in medium to dark brown color, but I observed many dogs with a big and round eyes, which gives them an unusual for the Rottweiler expression. Other problems were a straight fronts, incorrectly set front feet, shoulders and topline loose during movement. I found just a few dogs showing really powerful action of the rear and moving soundly and harmoniously, as an endurance working dog should. Common fault were flat feets and week pasterns. Many breeders forgot or overlook this part of their breeding program, however this is a very important point because the feets are the shock absorber for the dog's movement and make a dog to be able of doing their work for day after day. The Rottweiler is a trotting dog, built for endurance. If we do not want Rottweiler to loose its working ability we have eliminate these seriuse faults.

balanced, strong et expressive head of young male, correct substance and bones, fluent movement with excellent ground covering gait and stable topline. In Open Classe Female Exc 1 for Hera of Royal Musketeers - medium size well balanced female, with strong, but still feminine head, excellent overall constuction and substance, free in the movemement, very good ground covering gait with a medium drive.

11 exhibits presented in Champion Classe Males and the winner was Harron of Krie Gerische Schwarz - medium to large size male, very typical of the breed, adhering closely to the breed standard, free movement with excellent reach and drive. I felt privileged to pass judgement on the dogs and thank the exhibitors for bringing them for evaluation. I know some exhibitors may have felt that I was tough, but I feel strongly that only honesty in judging will ensure the integrity of our breed in the futur.

Once again I would like to thank the organiser for their guest accommodation and pleasant reception, and to the exhibitors for making me so welcome and for accepting my decisions so sportingly. I enjoyed my time with you immensely.

Your sincerely
Dr Maryla Makomaski

Before I forgot, please, when showing stop moving your dogs so fast, they are not GSD, and the show it is not a race! I want to see a steady moving, sound, balanced, powerful trot – that show me the dog is correctly constructed and fit for function.

In Baby Classe Female VP 1 and Best Baby was Kora of Hause Natali for Unserbund Nice feminine head, harmonius body, little short croupe, excellent movement for this age

Puppy Classe Males VP1 for Gerry Vravolu with good proportions, he still showed some a bit loose puppy move, but the potential was there. Head could by dryer Junior Classe Males Exc 1 Olburd Salivan - excellent in breed type and very well

By judge Jouni Nummela (Finland)
jouni.nummela@kolumbus.fi

I was more than pleased when Rottweiler club of Lithuania asked if I'm willing to judge in this one of the finest and respected Rottweiler shows. It didn't take many moments to answer, of course I was available.

We flew from Helsinki to Vilnius, rented a car and drove about 120 kilometers to our destination. Erika Stepanauskiene, president and leading force of Rottweiler club of Lithuania, had arranged lots of program for all weekend. We visited a wildlife park and rode a cableway to see fantastic Snow Arena, a local pride, downhill center open all the year. We had a barbecue evening at Erika's home and got a guided tour into city and it's history. Last but not least, there was evening party on Saturday.

Opening ceremony was well arranged. In judges introduction, while listening to my national song, I was wondering how far I have reached during my short judge career. For love for the breed, it suddenly felt so good. There was also a small proposal of obedience and tricks, very good proposal and a happy Rottweiler doing it. Now we were ready to start.

Now to the show and it's stars, Rottweilers. There were participants from up to 23 countries, so there was a lot to look and you could compare them. Number of dogs was quite small, 174 entries and some Rottweilers missed the ring.

In forehand we didn't know who was judging which classes, classes were given to judges by lottery both mornings. Interesting system. Other judges were Maria Makomaski from France and Ramune Kazlauskaite from Lithuania. In Saturday morning lottery I got younger male puppies, older female puppies and young class females to my ring.

It's always nice to judge puppies and also this time I saw brave little Rottweilers in both puppy classes. In this show we had a system that dogs were judged one by one, but the rating was not told to handler, nor was the dogs placed into order. Four Rottweilers from every class would go to big ring at the end of the day and there they were placed into order. There was only two smaller male puppies and I rated both very promising. Out of eight older female puppies six were rated very promising and two promising.

In young females class there was 14 entries. Very upscale class, eight were rated excellent and six rated very good. In this class I could enjoy the right type of Rottweiler, attitude and movement. Into final ring I picked four females I enjoyed the most, and I had my own favorite at the moment. But things turned around. In the final ring there was more running and I could see more differences.

So, at the end of the day, in the final ring, four of each class were placed into order. Best of younger male puppies was Lexxx vom Weinberges der Hunde and Authority iz Tverskogo Doma was second. In older female puppies number one was Greta von der Alten Festung, magnificent performer already, clearly promise of great movement and substance in the future. Will be interesting to see how this female will develop. She was also the BOB-puppy, decision we made together with Maria Makomaski, who judged other puppy-classes.

In young females-class, V4 was Ena od Zada, V3 was Aika Haus of Lazic, my favourite for a long time, but due movement this very promising and beautiful female was dropped to place three. V2 was Matla Flash Rouse, very promising female with very good movement. V1 was Olburd Only, female that could move even better and better, the more she ran.

Male Olburd Salivan and female Gaya

Best couple kennel Grosses Hertz

Unserbund were running for the BOB junior-title. Balanced, well moving male was the winner.

Saturday was finished as it comes to the show, next it was shower at hotel and getting ready for the evening party.

Lottery on Sunday morning gave me open class males (ten in the ring), working females (eight in the ring), and two veteran females.

In open class males I got to see power, structure and movement, even too much in some cases. I had to mention couple handlers they had too much speed. In my opinion, beautiful, balanced and strong trotting is not composed out of too much speed. Additionally there was one helper running outside the ring, in front of the dog, but he quit doing that when I friendly asked him to... Ratings were one good, three very good and six excellent. Out of those six I chose Neymar von der Alten Festung, Don vom Zecwald, Pluto is Rojaus Slenio and Kenzo Black Allusion into final ring.

In working females I rated two very good and five excellent. It is pleasant for a judge just to enjoy, when Rottweiler has right structure, good attitude, handler knows how to show dog, movement is shown as it should be, by terms of the dog. And I was even more delighted me to see this kind of female in working class. Even this dog was not perfect, but definitely the best in my ring on Sunday. Even the class does not matter, best dog may come from any class, I'm always happy to see excellent dogs in working class. To the final ring I chose Fila vom Hause Milacic, Doxa, Kayden van Helys and Alfi-Profi Barsa.

In veteran class I saw two very lively females aged over nine years. I gave both of them excellent, even though they had got some extra weight during years. It is always honour to bring a veteran Rottweiler into ring. Naturally, both Korland Rein Lovely Rain Bef and Cherny Legion Fasha got the ticket to the final ring.

Almost every dog in my ring had nice temperament. Some were glaring at me as I got closer or touched them, of course after asking the handler. Personally I keep an eye on this kind of dog more than honest, open dog. Only two dogs, both females, got critique for their behavior. Rottweiler is not supposed to become depressed and crouch because of judge. Rottweiler is supposed to be open and tolerate judge being close and touching. In the days big ring I started by placing open class males. In this class I had to think which detail I preferred more than other. All four had good things and also things I didn't like very much, so none of them was overwhelming. V4 was Pluto Is Rojaus Slenio, V3 Kenzo Black Allusion, V2 Don vom Zecwald. V1 was Neymar von der Alten Festung, young male with lots of excellent details, it will be nice to see how he will develop. Many times I told handler he is running too fast, and after ring he promised me to try to control his speed. And it is worth it, because dogs looks better when running little slower.

World Winner 2016 Toti Black Allusion

Next it was working class females. Number four was Alfa-Profi Barsa, number three was Kayden Van Helys, number two was Doxa the winner was Fila Vom Hause Milacic. Excellent females, all of them. Doxa, strong and powerful female, not in best shape, but very beautiful movement. Fila is a dog that stood out when she came to the ring, also a young dog so not ready yet, but fantastic rottweiler with outstandingly beautiful movement. In veterans my number one was Korland Rein Lovely Rain Bef, so second was Cherny Legion Fasha.

In the final rings all three judges together chose the best male, best female, BOB and best veteran as well as the best opposite sex, best breeder group and best couple.

Our best male was Toti Black Allusion, best female Fila Vom Hause Milacic and best veteran Korland Rein Lovely Rain Bef. Best breeder group was kennel Tverskoy Dom, the best couple was won by Gornostay Vitaliy with two of his dogs from Ukraine.

As climax we chose the best of the breed. I was very happy and taken for our concerted decision for BOB was working class female I judged. Both judges shared my vision of details and movement of this dog. It is always great to see genuine and spontaneous reactions of owner, I think the owner nearly passed out when the excitement lapsed and result was given. Additionally Maria Makomaski got a wild twirl of victory.

What comes to my mind as thinking this trip? Again great memories, lots of old friends, lots of new friends. Excellent Finnish group, true organizer Erika, very beautiful town, Rottweilers. In other words, everything you can wish for. It was really nice experience taking part in a event of true Rottweiler-people. I want to thank organization, participants and all Rottweiler enthusiasts for great weekend with a breed we love.

On the agenda of the current IFR-Board is the fact that immediately after the 2016 IFR World Show, a few individuals dared to question its integrity on social media.

We find this to be slanderous for both our Federation as for the judges and therefore unacceptable : at an IFR-event there are no politics, there are no prior arrangements and all appointed judges, to whom we own our unconditional trust, can and must judge untouched by any influence and with a clear conscience !

The organization of the World Show in Lithuania was exemplary for this and this was even emphasized by the fact that nobody even knew in advance which judge would judge which classes as this was only decided upon on the morning of the show ... and by lottery !

I deeply regret that some unfounded individual reactions on social media will now force us to take measures to prove what is obvious and I assure you that this Board will not tolerate slander !

*On behalf of the IFR-Board,
Dirk Vandecasteele,
President.*

American Rottweiler Club 7th National Sieger Show

By Steve Wolfson
snwolfson@optonline.net

Sieger 2016

On May 14-15, I adjudicated the American Rottweiler Club National Sieger show at the Lancaster Resort, Pennsylvania. The show had two locations. Puppies under 12 months were held indoors at the Lancaster Resort Expo Arena on Saturday. Youth and adult classes - all exhibits over 12 months - was held at Kiwanis Park, in Lancaster on Sunday. It rained Saturday while judging puppies, and fortunately, we had the cover of the Expo Arena. On Sunday it was sunny, but a cool 55 degrees at the park. I would like to thank the ARC executive board, the Sieger show committee - Leslie Fried, Jill Miller, Roberta Martin, Deborah-Banko-Fried, ring stewards, Dorothy-Stringer-Murphy, Cheryl Fennelly and the supporters of this great event. All contributed to the success of the show. The American Rottweiler Club Sieger show is similar to AKC style showing having placements 1-4, but with three significant differences. One, the judge provides a verbal critique for each entry while a typist records - verbatim - the judges evaluation. The critique's purpose is to obtain an expert's objective opinion of an exhibit's positive and negative traits in type, structure, gait, and temperament. The owner/breeder uses this information to make adjustments to their breeding program. Correctly used, the critique is a powerful and valuable tool. Two, the judge grades each entry - in a hierarchy - with a rating such as; V-excellent, SG-very good, G-good, S-Satisfactory, etc. Third, this venue permits a judgment of docked and undocked exhibits without bias.

Saturday's Judging

The show began at 3 PM on Saturday after the ARC National Specialty selection of BOB. Despite most spectators heading home after that event finished, puppy judging at the ARC Sieger show garnered a respectable crowd. Because puppies under nine months are in a fluid state, my evaluation usually contains basic comments such as scissors bite, the status of the general breed and head type, quality of gait. However, I had only 20 exhibits and gave a more detailed assessment.

Puppy breed type was good. Most had tight fitting almond shape dark eyes, scissors bite, good head type, dark gums and bone mass. For their young age, most gaited efficiently and none had missing teeth. Some possessed construction problems such as splay feet, east-west front feet, sickle hocks and some had breed type fault, hairless/loose eyelids, and pink gums. Breeders should note these serious problems.

My best puppy male, Cammcastle's Secret Agent Man possessed excellent breed type, construction, and locomotion. The

Sunday's Judging

The balance of entries - 80 youths through adults - was Sunday at Kiwanis Park. The park had all the attributes of an excellent show site; good parking, toilet facilities with running water, ample space for gaiting exhibits, electricity and tasty hot food! My compliments to the show committee for its selection. After playing our national anthem, we called entries to the ring around 8:45 AM on a chilly Sunday morning.

The dog classes had respectable entries with 12, the highest, in the Champion class. Breed type in dogs was typical. They possessed dark almond shape eyes and gum pigmentation, complete, correct dentition, powerful heads with good zygomatic arches and stops, powerful bones mass and body substance. Their gait was harmonious and unrestricted.

The bitch classes also had a strong entry with the largest of the show - 15 - in the 12-18month class. Bitches possessed dark almond shape eyes, complete, correct dentition, good skull to muzzle ratio, sufficient dark gums, good coat and markings and harmonious movement.

best puppy female, Cammcastle's Quiet the Crowds - from the young 4-6 class - also possessed excellent breed type, construction and locomotion. My compliments to the breeder of these Rottweilers. Judging concluded at 5 PM.

American Rottweiler Club 7th National Sieger Show

By Steve Wolfson
snwolfson@optonline.net

Some exhibits, dogs, and bitches were undocked. A few spectators were curious asking why I did not comment on the status of their natural tail? I replied, "Unless there is an irregularity to address, the tail is correct."

I especially enjoyed judging the Stud Dog and Kennel group classes. In these classes, we can view the producing abilities of the Stud Dog and the accomplishments of the Breeder. Both classes contained high-quality examples. My thanks to all the pro-handlers that participated in the show. Their skills and support were appreciated.

Breed type within exhibits and their style of locomotion were well represented. Dentition was correct on most exhibits, and none had missing teeth. One entry demonstrated a misaligned M3 molar and one bite was tight scissors.

Dogs were closer to the standard than bitches. They possessed better balance and were overall more compact. Three aspects of bitch breed type that need improvement are body length, head type, and gum pigmentation. The bitches have become long, lost pronunciation in the zygomatic arch and stop and their gum pigmentation too light. Some entries demonstrated loose fitting lower eyelids and sickle hocks.

SUMMARY

Since its inception, the American Rottweiler Club National Sieger Show has flourished. It is my hope that it will develop into a world-class event drawing entries not only from within the US but internationally too. Creating a world class event opens the door to varying opinions, which is an essential ingredient for breed vitality and strength. My congratulations to the winners of the show,

CKURK show

Judge: Bianka

Now about the show.

28 & 29. 05. 2016 was held CKURK Nanchang, Jiangxi breeding show. Show ground was in Nanchang Police Dog Base of the Ministry of Public Security, large place with lot of space and shade for all dogs and exhibitors.

It was my third judging appointment in magnificent China, thank you very much for your trust. Also, as always hospitality of the club was more than height, I said I feel in China like at my home.

I would like to thank to Mr. President First day I was not very impressed with average quality of young dogs. Actually I find some very low quality in some classes of dogs.

Common faults were mostly front feet turned out, bad shape of heads, not correct movement, lack of forechest, bad toplines, muzzle not deep enough, open elbows, lighter eyes color, some females were too small for they age. Couple dogs were too shy, not self-assured, some have too much pink in mouth, which is more cosmetic fault, but still affect image of dog described in standard.

In 3-6 months male class first place and VP-1 2U-Emily von Chang Nan's Kennel and G-Caddie von Xin Lei's Kennel, rest of group was perspektiv rated. Mr. Zhao, vice president Mr. Xing, my translator and already friend Ben for beautiful time during my staying and also to all exhibitors for they sporty behavior during the show.

VP-1 4U-Ddd von Xin Si Ba Da's Kennel, super nice 5 months old, correct type and movement. She won in large group of 12 females.

VP-2 was 2K-Effie von Tian Long Ba Bu's Kennel, also beautiful puppy, just 3 months old, very sound and free in movement, very nice type.

6-9 males was group of low quality, of 5 presented dogs just one was awarded VP. It was B-Bruno von Ding Li's Kennel, 6,5 months old.

Mostly faults in this group were weak paws, falling down croups, bad back line, no forechest, bad movement. One dog was too fat, he is just 9 months old, to make so young dog too fat is a big mistake, it does not make him look stronger or better. It can just hurt his feet, back, paws, movement... Dog should be in normal weight, especially in growing stage, should not be overweight or too skinny. Females 6-9 months were same low quality as 6-9 males group. Again, only one female was VP rated- 2T-Hopper von Chang Nan's Kennel, correct in type and movement. Rest of group showed bad movement and toplines, pink pigmentation, too weak body....

9-12 males class winner and V-1 was B-Blaise von Wei Ke's Kennel , 10 months old and only one dog in that group with excellent rating.He is beautiful male, strong, broad, have nice head and moves correctly.

Faults in rest of dogs in class were some muzzle not deep enough, soft toplines, narrow forechest, open ell-bows, front feet turned out... 9-12 females was large group of 14 females. Winner was V-1 4A-Yan von Xin Si Ba Da's Kennel, 9,5 months old, strong, deep, wide, nice head and fluid movement. Correct in all aspects, I have put notice in my book for her,, super nice type and movement,, She went later best young female and young BOB. With that temperament and movement I can bet on her fine show property in future, And she is so young, still developing, would be interesting to see her in about 2 years from now. 12-18 males class winner was V-1 2J-Johnson von Chang Nan's Kennel, 12 months old, strong dog, strong head, free movement, sometime paws slightly turned out in the front, somewhat stronger coat. I liked him best in the group, he is most correct dog. Later he got also title of Best youth dog in show. 12-18 females, 15 females presented. V-1 B-Betty von Zhong Yi's Kennel, 13 months, best movment in group, correct build, excellent temperament and presentation. In that class I find couple of very beautiful females, but because of not so good movement, some pink pigmentations, some very tight scissors bite, not enough level and strong toplines, they could not be winner of that class.

Inmediate males class winner was V1-3C-Chester von Xin Si Ba Da's Kennel , 18 months old, best moving in group, nice type, correct head and nicely build.

One male in this class was disqualification because of aggressivity to his owner.

If dog is aggressivity it is not most clever thing to bring him to the show. First, this is not normal and desirable in our breed, also can lead to some injury of people or other dogs,not to mention that by FCI rules such dog MUST be immediatley disqualification from the ring. If you can not show your dog teeth , and it is not 3 months old baby, that it is your mistake. It means dog don't trust to you, you are not friends. It show bad relationship between owner and dog, worst thing which can happend when you live with dog. Base of good behavior of dog is to provide him good life, love, attention, spending time with dog, playing, walking, teaching him, always showing love and provide to dog feel of security and stability in that relationship. But also teaching dog from his "childhood "what is good, what is wrong, what you want from him what he can give from you. And all that true playing, motivation, rewarding after good behavior, without too much mental pressure or especially without any roughness.Dog must always feel your love and care for him, but also your determination and consistency in your desire to teach him somewhat. On the nice way always. Then you can develop correct dog- owner relationship, full of mutual trust , respect and friendship. And owners how developed such nice bound with they dogs sure will not have problem to show teeth on the show.

Working females, 2 presented, V-1 GRACY VOM FINDBERG, strong, beautiful, correct movement. She won V-1 also last year when I was judging her in China

Intermedia females class, 11 entries, V-1 Z-Zula von Dong Xing 's Kennel, 18 months, very strong, broad , excellent type and great movement. In this class I find again some excellent typ females, some faults were present, but looking as typ, they were very beautiful Working males, first and only one excellent rated, V-1 INDIO VOM HAUSE NEUBRAND. Open males class, V-1 , Best male title and BOB went to 5I-Ivor von Si Ba Da's Kennel. I loved him very much last year, this year he went BOB. Great male, born for show, excellent performance in the ring. He is beautiful, dry, strong, his movement is full of energy, excellent reach and drive and desire to move. Topline strong, broad and firm, strong muscles, excellent temperament, top dog. Great example of male. Open females class, winner V-1,2E-Effie von Xin Si Ba Da's Kennel . She was my last year winner of 9-12 months class, this year she confirmed her self as winner of open class, large class of 10 females. Later she got also title of Best adult female.

She is impressive female, excellent movement, correct build, nice head, clean, beautiful type. V-2 was female which I like also very much Barbie von Bu Lu Si, she is very strong and broad, deep , beautiful type In this class I find many very beautiful females, it make me always happy, females are so much important for good breeding results, no good puppies without quality females. Champion males class, 2 dogs V1- KARTAGO VOM CHARCO, strong, large, correct in movement, dry head, middle brown eyes

V-2 YOGI FROM ROYAL BREED , also very strong dog, beautiful type, correct movement, firm topline, but also somewhat shorter muzzle and stronger stop.

V2 went to Ghost des Princes D' Aragon, excellent movemnet, also very nice type, forechest could be little bit more pronounced.

Champion males class, 2 entries V1- 2B-Bonnie von Xin Si Ba Da's Kennel , nice, strong , correct movement

CKURK Nachang, Jiangi show, China

In this class I find many very beautiful females, it make me always happy, females are so much important for good breeding results, no good puppies without quality females.

Champion males class, 2 dogs

V1- KARTAGO VOM CHARCO, strong, large, correct in movement, dry head, middle brown eyes

V2- B-Betty von Chang Nan's Kennel , also nice female, pigmentation of gums should be darker

After the show we had big pleasure to visit police dog center with our host Mr. Ye.

It was very interesting to see rottweilers breed and taught to work for police. They work as protection companion all over the country. Strong in bones and body, excellent temperament, brave, it is enough to see them in action to fill respect for them.

I was pleasant surprised to find out that police center have their own equipment for collecting and keeping frozen sperm of dogs. They carefully use sperm to producing best dogs for service duty. It show how high level of breeding program they developed.

All dogs live in large kennels with inside and outside space. They have big, beautiful facility to walk and exercising daily. They also staying till end of they lives in security of they kennels, after they get "retired" from working. It show respect and care toward them.

After visit, members of police center and we had very interesting conversation about all aspect of rottweilers. I admire to big knowledge and work of people who run that police dog center and I would like to thank them again for they hospitality and time we share.

Till next time I wish to all club members best of luck with they rottweilers, success on future shows and most important, love your dogs and enjoy they love and friendship!

Invitation to sunny Croatia cannot be refused! Few hours transfer in Warsaw and I am in Zabgreb, hour drive and I am in Varazdin, city of Angels. Croatia Rottweiler club invited two judges me and Fernando Lukas Martins from Portugal. Usually Rottweiler specialty shows are organized in the best way as they organizers are professional people, but I would like to thank Baja Perdedaj and Aleksandar Uljaki for wonderful work they did!

Fabulous place – sportive club are with plenty green grass, old beautiful tries for natural shadow. Wide rings and more great things to mention. About 90 dogs almost all present, great number for two judges, such number you can judge with pleasure with no stress, that soon will be night and you are not finished. Breeders from many countries showed they respect to Rottweiler club of Croatia and judges by coming so far. This says a lot!

Judges with organizers of the show

Nelson von Hause Kigen

Normally I judge fast, as I show and train my dogs by myself, I know very well, that such hot weather is real hell for our breed. I do not agree, that only top runners (survivors) can be winners, same as one dog should be showed by 2 or even 3 persons. This is ridiculous!! Seems, that our dogs should be sprinter runners and 2 sprinter runners showing them. This is not correct - I see this transformation last 15 years. High level dogs and professional preparation and handling presented in each class. Even all was so great and the rest of participants showed respect and it was sportive atmosphere around the rings I should mention, that At this show one of exhibitors from Bosnia and Hercogovina, Alija Ćosic (kennel Lions of Pliva) were commenting my judging. He was not happy with his male result. I did not want to show my interest, as I have experience with this kind of people. Later had to judge his female. She was placed V4. I come to gratulate him as owner and explain my judging. Man in respectful age split all dirty words he knew straight in to my face loudly (I will fk you and etc. etc). He posted in Facebook post and insulting comments about show organisation and specifically about my judging, because his dogs were not rated the way he wanted. He was posting me personal messages still commenting about me. Sad to state, that dog owner and breeder from Bosnia and Hercogovina rudely violated FCI show rules and ethics That kind of behavior is not acceptable and should be strictly punished. Judges are not safe in the ring anymore, judges are treated without respect, even more people use religion as tool. What is real shame.

Till this time I was informed, that Rottweiler club of Croatia and Kennel union of Croatia investigated this unpleasant accident and took relevant measures for person who did not follow FCI rules and ethics. Person is banned for 2 years showing his dogs in all Croatia kinology events. As conclusion i would like to say, that judging is pleasure and this is sportive events. We show and judge our dogs. They do not change after show, any tittle will make them better or some placement will make them worse. First of all we must respect our dogs see Situation was not pleasant, but I am happy, because it will stop such accidents in the future as IFR will present show regulations changes where all will be named very clear and people who are not able to behave will not be registered to events.

I would like say huge thanks to Croatia club support and great time in beautiful country. We spent great time, had visited wonderful places, hospitality same as show organizations was at the top! It was my pleasure to spend my weekend with great judge Fernando Lukas Martins. We had lots of jokes and nice emotional talks about how we deeply involved in our Rotty life!!! It was my pleasure to be with all of You!

A year before the show I got invitation to judge in two Russia specialty shows. This was not my first invitation to big country Russia, but with my pleasure I took this interesting invitation as I like Russian Rottweilers, people and I speak Russian language very well. Many dogs, huge classes in both shows "Tver cup 2016" and "Russia Club Sieger" almost all dogs were presented for two judges, second judge Siegmund Trebschuh from Germany. Weather conditions were very extreme, very hot over +35 C. Show was held in nature on the bank of the river Volga. Show, camping grounds and party were held on same field in beautiful surroundings. Opening ceremony started with national songs and short presentation of national Russia dance and singing. Russian Rottweilers have great structure and bones. This is one from countries where dogs are showed mostly by ladies! Believe or not, but they are so strong and have perfect control even with very strong and powerful males! It is very interesting to judge and later to compare results from two judges. Me and Siegmund Trebschuh from Germany, we had very similar placements and even more almost same winners both days, both shows. It was my pleasure to meet Siegmund, he is great personality and has deep knowledge in our breed, we had interesting discussions about breed and it's problems. I judged "Tver cup 2016" all males classes.

Very strong concurrence, excellent type bones and substance dogs were presented in ring. I love breed type Russia has. Russian breeders has very correct view of our breed anatomy, that is why so strong bone dogs can fly in ring! Huge thanks to the Club Rottweiler Russia for this invitation, special Thanks to Tatyana and Roman owners of kennel "iz Tverskogo Doma" for they love to our breed.

I had on July 2nd and 3rd 2016 the second time after 2013, when I judged the Russian Klubsieger in very nice city Ekaterinenburg. Big honor and the special pleasure to judge in Russia. It was together with judge Erika Stepanauskiene on „Tver Cup 2016“ and „Russian Klubsieger show 2016“. This are two big Rottweiler events and they were organized in the best way by Tatyana Popova and Roman Gudkov in Central Russia in Tver, not too far from Moskow. It was a really very nice, just we had very hot weather!

On Saturday „Tver Cup 2016“ - my personal duty was to judge all female classes. Our shows were one week after the "FCI World Dog Show 2016" in Moskow and so we had a lot of this high quality dogs from one weekend before on our both shows! Generally, the quality in all classes was very high. That's very nice, but sometimes it not too easy to do decisions!
Best Female and also BOB on this day was "Barbie vom Hause Lupa" from kenel "vom Hause Reto" from USA - really super female!

On Sunday - Russian Klubsieger 2016 - I judged all male-classes. Also on this day the quality was very high! The Best male and Russian Klubsieger 2016 was Alfa' Profi Viking, The Youth Winner was Olburd Salivan and he get also on this day Best of breed title. Best kenel on Russian Klubsieger 2016 was the kenel "Olburd", which had a lot of class-winners and placed dogs both days.

My summary: two super shows with super dogs! What I can see on these two days were strong and large Rottweilers! Very nice to see were especially the very strong bones and heads, generally without to be overtyped, dark eyes and moth pigmentation! Like all over the world: we have to look a bit more for a correct front. It was for me a pleasure to judge with Erika Stepanauskiene and discuss about our bred and the future of our Rottweiler-World! Thank you Erika! "Thank you" to everybody who helped me in the ring!

The events were organized on highest level through Tatyana Popova and Roman Gudkov and they team! On this judging-trip to Russia I had the possibility to get a sightseeing in St. Petersburg, Tver and Moskow. "Thank you!" for this Oxana and Lisa, Tatyana and Roman! It was very nice for me to learn something more about the "Russian Soul"! It was a real super time between real Rottweiler Friends!
Congratulations to all breeders, owners and handlers!

Although I was aware that the recent publications about the Yulin-festival and the widely supported appeal to boycott all Chinese canine events would expose me to criticism, I immediately accepted the invitation to judge this show and honestly looked forward to judge in China again!

I will of course not minimize the gruesomeness of some of the photo's that flooded our western social media. They showed dogs being horribly abused and are so horrible that for us overshadow all considerations of accepting this as a mere cultural fact.

Still, I must warn for generalization. All dog amateurs I met in China openly share our feeling of horror and all assured me that these practices are in fact very rare, certainly not common but are to be attributed to few individuals only! Some of the words I heard used for those individuals are moreover not even suited for publication ...

I must also emphasize that in China, just like in every other Asian country where I have judged (Indonesia and Malaysia), I have never witnessed even the slightest sign of abuse or maltreatment of a dog! To the contrary, each and every dog that was ever shown to me in these countries, was well fed, well taken care off and clearly well loved! Some of the dogs that were shown to me were brought from thousands of kilometers away, they were in prime condition and I saw some of them sleep in the car in the arms of their owners/handlers. The "Walt-Disney syndrome" that has "contaminated" our western canine world (= treating the dog as it were a human, which I personally will not promote!) has reached these countries too ...! Based on my own experiences, I must protest all opinions or statements that Asian countries would not be suitable for keeping and breeding our beloved breed!

Without wanting to appear conceited, we should not forget that the Rottweiler's history in China is not a long one and is based on imported dogs. While I openly question if the western world succeeds in keeping the Rottweiler as a breed (originally meant and kept for only one reason: to work) with the physical and mental characteristics of the working dog, the question may be even more acute in countries far away from the breed's origin, where the breed was never put to use, where it's genepool is not based on a historic natural selection and where the risk is high that the breed not only evolves towards what it was never meant to be, but has even started as one: a breed of showdogs. This is in fact exactly the reason why the IFR was founded: as the breed spread and conquered the world and was now being kept and bred in very diverse cultures, the need arose to ensure that the Rottweiler would always be defined, thus kept and bred, in the same manner. There is only one Rottweiler and wherever he lives and he should always be defined with the characteristics of the working dog.

Best bitch Mona von Ge Pu's Kennel

Best In Show Ivor von Si Ba Da's Kennel

I remember that after the first show I judged in China some years ago I commented in general not only on the very good condition and preparation of the dogs but especially on the very good structure of most dogs, in fact their remarkable general correctness of angulations and therefore their very good movement ...

The excellent Rottweiler is however defined by more than just structural correctness in a general cynologic sense and I also commented on a general lack of type, more precisely a general lack of the breed specific abundance of strength that we must look for (in both genders!) ... It was this that then kept most dogs in the "good" or "very good-zone" with far less than a handful in the highest grading.

Import male Ghost des Princes d'Aragone

Working female Gracy com Findberg

Open female Dida von Brave Heart's Kennel

Working male Kartago vom Charco

I also remember at the time saying that preserving these very good structures but strengthening them with size and substance, would be a challenge but would in case of success lead to optimal quality.

As I heard that since then several strong typeful dogs were sold to China, I was curious to see how this would have influenced the Rottweilerpopulation.

Well, I was pleasantly surprised! You will not hear me say that all dogs were now excellent or on their way to championclass but I dare (and must) say that the Chinese breeder / owner has clearly understood the message about the breed's definition transcending the need for just a correct structure in the general cynologic sense.

I found most dogs now to be very good in general type but this time unfortunately also showing the same faults in structure and detail we now see all over the world. Importing genes seems to have brought the good and the bad ... The good : better breedtype, the bad : shorter upperarms, longer loins, weaker pasterns, longer hind-members, flatter chests, ...

Just like in all countries, I think it is the judge's responsibility to comment on this and that this must be reflected in gradings. If not, faults remain unpunished, remain unknown and even become accepted and irrevocably consolidated in the genepool. This would be highly unfair towards people I found to have open minds and a willingness to listen and learn. Giving a detailed and maybe even a harsh criticism on faults is listened to, accepted and even seemed invited.

Many of the better placed dogs did not come from the class of "imported dogs" but were Chinese bred, even the BIS! In fact, I remember an imported Champion male entering the ring, answering to all criteria of a certain recent fashionable view on the breed (sic) ... a head that would even have been extreme when judging according to the breed standard 157 (the Rottweiler = 147) but hardly able to move because of excessive weight, a lack of angulations in shoulder, upperarm and hind quarters, too weak pasterns, ... I openly elaborated on these faults and on the concept of the Rottweiler as a working dog and the characteristics that make the breed "beautiful" ... those that enable him to work. I sincerely hope that this type of dog will have no part in the future of the breed in China, just as I wish it will quickly become a far away but not forgotten warning from the past in the rest of the world.

A show like any western show

I was in fact very happy with "my" winning male, the Chinese bred Ivor von Si Ba Da's Kennel, a male who is very correct in all his details, with an excellent structure and a very harmonious breed specific movement. Strong but not excessive in his type, strength and substance. In short : a prime example of a dog who complies with the breed standard and who is able to function in all of the breed's versatility! This was the dog I was hoping to see coming back to China : the structure I saw at the first show + the better type I wished for (incl. a calm but very attentive attitude) ... congratulations!

Rottweiler puppy in the war

Pavel and Sultan

Just before IFR World Winner 2016 show we all get good luck wishes from soldier Pavel and little Rottweiler puppy on his hands I hear great story how little puppy was found in real war field and joined soldiers.

Puppy was named Sultan.

Guys shared with him last food, little Rottweiler grow up in surroundings of war, instead balls played with bullets. His favorite was concentrated sweet milk drops.

Few weeks ago I wrote Pavel, it was very interesting how little Rottweiler Sultan is doing!

Unfortunately I get very sad news, just few days before my message dog was killed in action. Sultan was wearing vest, but bullet went straight...

R.I.P for Sultan

He left some memories, that Rottweiler was in war and seems Sultan interest was not only war

World Championship 2017

The Belgian Rottweilerclub (VZW Belgische Rottweiler Klub – Club Belge Rottweiler) esteems it an honor to have been entrusted with the organization of the IFR IPO World Championship 2017.

The event will be organized in Beerse, on 25 – 27 august 2017.

More information can be found on <http://ifr2017.be>

Formal invitations will be sent to the Delegates of the IFR-Memberclubs.

We look forward to meet all Rottweiler- and dogsportlovers at the event !

We will do all we can to make it an unforgettable World Championship, a trial without frills but with all attention to where the Rottweiler is at his best and where he belongs : the working field !

IFR IPO World Championships 21.-24.9.2016 in Hämeenlinna, Finland.

Thank you IFR for giving this opportunity for Finnish Rottweiler Association to arrange this competition.

We have seen amazing performances in all three sections: A, B and C. We are bewaring of the best Rottweilers in this year and the best teams have been found. To arrange this kind of an event needs huge amount of time and persons. But the main factors for a successful happening are the venues. I'd like to take this opportunity to once again thank the town of Hämeenlinna: Your positive attitude for our event made this all possible! Special thanks go also to farmers without whom the tracking would not been possible. To successfully build up event like this needs sponsors. Thank you Dog&Cat, Royal Canin, Ilowilla, Mevet and Arte Perruno: you were vital.

And also thank you ProfiDog for online news and results worldwide. The judges headed by Tero Oravasaari: Aivo Oblikas, Vesa Laaksonen and Roar Kjönstadt: thank you for the fare judgment. Thank you Vesa Kuosmanen for supervising the tracks. In IPO the even-handed helper work is crucial. Thank you for fair helper work. And where would we be without over 60 volunteers that gave their spare time, Thank you! And icing on top of all is the great team I have been honored to work with in past three years. Thank you Jaana, Lilli, Mika, Elina, Mia, Anu, Pete, Anitta, Jussi, Jenni and Miikka. Once again our amazing race Rottweiler evidenced positive publicity.

The competitions began on Wednesday, when the participants had the opportunity to register and to carry out veterinary check. On Thursday registration and veterinary check continued, but at the same time teams had the opportunity to familiarize the field. The afternoon was Judges meeting, which took part the signed and the second supervisor Vesa Kuosmanen, part A judge Brain Oblikas (Estonia), Part B judge Vesa Laaksonen and Part C judge Roar Kjönstadt (Norway). The afternoon continued the so-called 0- dogs to help judges and the participants will be able to check the place and handling. After these were organized team leaders meeting, where team leaders have the opportunity to ask questions. At the meeting were also presented to the judges, and they told what kind of competition they will appreciate. At the meeting were also a lottery the order in which countries will raise their lottery tickets. Finnish team was the last, as the host country's team raise their lottery tickets always the last. The day culminated in the opening ceremony and the lottery.

The actual competition days were Friday and Saturday. Any protests were shown, but a few Team leaders became to ask my an opinion. Things were resolved by talking, because in accordance with the rules of the criticism is not able to make a protest. It is understandable when, after the preparation and working many years, so the emotions rise to the surface. Once again, the minds calm down when things were discussed in peace.

All tracking fields were located 25 - 35 kilometers from competition centre and conditions were unbiased. The fields were harvesting fields and appropriately challenging. On the trail made a few renewal track, because of the protests was considered with the second supervisor considers appropriate. Schedule was stayed and everything worked flexibly, so the award ceremony started on Saturday at scheduled times.

Part B, had a few brilliant performance. A and C parts stood out in particular the winner working, which had both the technical expertise that the dog's attitude excellent.

I want to thank you all over 60 persons, who were organized IFR IPO World Championchip 2016. All of you had your own job and all were done excellent!

Always there will be improved; opening and closing ceremonies are part of the competitions and the dogs must shown good nerves. We should not have to ask from the participants, why they don't have their dogs with them. We hope, in the future there will be in the rules, that all dogs must be shown in both ceremonies. The audience are come to see participants and the dogs, so they have a right to see them all!

Congratulations for all participants and especially to new World Champion Cid vom Rottberg & Dmitry Dudukin.

I had the pleasure and honor to be the IFR 2016 IPO Judge in the Tracking. Extremely I am grateful that I got to be part of a big championship. I would like to thank people who were behind the organization of the competition. Everything went really good and my judging was very easy, when all the arrangements goes so well. The second supervisor Vesa Kuosmanen and track authors worked really professional and everything went like a dance. The fields grass was recently driven and therefore rather short. Due to the drought in the ground was quite hard. Luckily, it didn't rain and the wind was weak. I like very much of judging tracking, because these fields gave me a good chance to see the dogs training level and nerves as well. If the fields are too easy, could the average level or worse dog get rather good results. IPO, however is the three strands of the race, so quite clearly for tracking has also important role. Dogs were from edge to edge, as usual in the World Championships. There were dogs, who had been used to easy conditions and that is why, they either weakness of self-confidence and that brings nervousness or dogs were used to pick up smell from the air and therefore did not success at the hard conditions.

There was also a couple of dogs, which I would say for sure, that they were absolutely best of tracks I have seen in my life. Between these extremes hold a lot of very great participants. The best results of tracking was Cid vom Rottberg. I liked very much personality of handler Dmitry Dudukin. He was immediately the first, who started after an other participant protest and renewal track. However, he was very calm, didn't require anything special, only one minute for the dog relax. I like to doff the hat to him. The dog was impressive, tracking was activ, wise and calm.

Other dog, which tracking remained to my mind, was Zandonai Aston Allegro, Kim Andersen. Renewal track was the last track on Friday and field was dry and the hardest. The dog was also impressive and self-confident, tracking "like a train".

Both of these dogs tracking just like working-dogs should, activ, powerful and have good nerves.

Spain

In the end, I want to say that the championships is like a dinner, build the different parts of feelings and taste. IFR IPO Championships 2016 with overall taste was delicious, excellent organization, great surroundings, sportsmanship participants and nice public.

Thank you all, Mr.Aivo Oblikas Judge Part B

First I like to thank you for invite me to judging IFR IPO Championships 2016. Judge's point of view competition and judging went very well. Experienced and knowing persons, led by Jussi Sairanen gave excellent conditions for judging. There was 32 participants in obedience, one dog suspended because injured.

Obedience results divided the following: Excellent 1, Very good 10, Good 12, Satisfactory 8 and Deficient 1

The competition remained particularly high level of the Swedish team dogs obedience, harmony of the co-operation with handlers and dogs. Especially Fredrik Stewenhagen, Qvintåsgårdens Crutin has an excellent and powerful obedience. Also Madeleine Daleo with Just Ask Yalen, shown a strong technical obedience and unfortunately handler had to command twice in one part and in other part wrong position downgraded an excellent ability to very good.

I want to wish all participants best of luck now and in the future,
Mr. Vesa Laaksonen

Wonderfull show grounds on Saturday met us with heavy rain. Judging young dogs it is always pleasure as we see our breed potential.

I met few nice puppies and young males such as female Solo von der Brown, males Icco de Breogan and Best puppy Huey vom Jacobi Haus. Beautiful older junior class female Akita Earl Antonius, was the best type dog in this show, very well presented and professionally prepared, she became Best Youth.

Sunday was Sunny, I was not happy as older dogs almost 99% were not ready for the show. Some owners having really great dogs wer not able correctly show dog's bite. All males not in condition, some limping, some overweight

Male Winner Polo von Hause Kigen – strong dog with very correct angulations, very long and heavy, still moved with very good reach and drive.

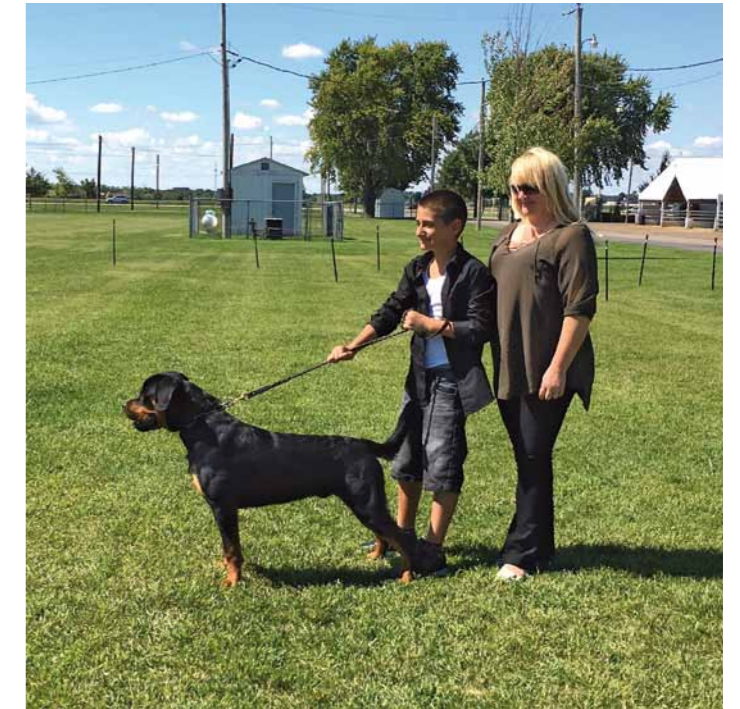

Best female and Best of Breed Sieger class female with great handling and preparation showing wonderful movement very nice head with beautiful expression CH Hope von Scosher.

Report on Temperament test by Regional Group of Zurich, 2016 Schweizerischer Rottweilerhunde-Club (SRC)

Behavioural Assessment: Encounters of dogs

Report on the Temperament Test, Breed Suitability Test and Behavioral Assessment as well as the examination of holding a Rottweiler in the canton of Aargau, organized by the Regional Group of Zürich on the 6th of November 2016

The SRC regularly reports on breed surveys. When reporting, the focus usually lies on the daily happenings. This time however, the report shall be somewhat different and shall point out the purpose of such events. In this sense, the following report will show the contribution that the Swiss Rottweiler Club (SRC), founded in 1921, has made, to breeding a healthy and beautiful working dog with a safe and pleasant nature. This of course, within the scope of the the Swiss Cynological Society (SKG) regulations. Existing Situation

The SKG is the umbrella organization of most dog breeders in Switzerland. It was founded in 1883 and is based in Berne. At present, it is made up of 358 sections (independent associations) with a total of approximately 68,000 members in Switzerland and Liechtenstein. The SKG itself is affiliated to the international cynological governing body, FCI, and has the purpose to promote uniformity in the breeding, for this purpose, the SKG maintains the Swiss Dog Stud Book (SHSB / LOS)

Unfortunately, in the case of the Rottweiler, a large number is imported (often without official papers). The number even exceeds the amount that is originally bred in Switzerland. Many of these imported dogs correspond to the Breed Standard of the Rottweiler dog, as published by FCI, however, many of these dogs also have faults such as character deficiencies or faulty temperament and health problems. The SRC has a firm opinion respecting this matter: There is no reason why one needs to breed outside the FCI. The controlled and documented ancestry and breeding of your four-legged family member should be of value to you. Therefore, the SRC wishes that potential dog owners buy a Rottweiler from a recognized and licensed (Swiss) breed.

Report on Temperament test by Regional Group of Zurich, 2016 Schweizerischer Rottweilerhunde-Club (SRC)

Unfortunately, in the past, the image of the Rottweiler has been influenced by various negative examples. It can be discussed, debated on, lamented or polemised whether it is correct, when reporters picture the Rottweiler in the press as a vicious dog or when, as is the case in some cantons, the Rottweiler appears on a list of potentially dangerous dogs. The shared opinion of the SRC and its breeders is clear: it is our goal to breed a dog with abundant strength and even-tempered nature with a high stress threshold. A dog which is well suited to being a working, service and family dog. SRC breeders take this responsibility seriously.

However, there are cases where the problem is not the dog or its faulty temperament. In these cases, the problem can be found on the other end of the lead, the holder. Therefore, the first step, when wanting competent dog holders, needs to be done by the breeder, namely in selecting dog holders that are capable of leading this breed. Thus, it is part of the breeder's responsibility to check the potential buyer. Keeping this in mind, only buyers who are able to keep dogs physically as well as mentally fit, which are properly educated, should be able to access a dog from this breed. Having said this, SRC breeders are aware of their responsibility to sell their dogs to competent dog holders.

Breed Survey Days

Since 1963, three Breed Survey Days have been carried out by the SRC per year. These days include a Temperament test (temperament testing) for the Rottweiler, a breeding suitability test and a certificate (Körung) for the Rottweiler. Since 2012, the SRC has offered behavioral assessment and, since 2013, the practical examination of the breeders' rights for holding list dogs in the canton of Aargau

Breed selection on the occasion of a Temperament Test, Breed Suitability Test and Liscence

Dogs are accepted for breeding dependent on their passing of the temperament test. This primarily intends to select Rottweiler dogs for the breed with a high degree of safety when considering their temperament, and to exclude dogs with disqualifying faults from the breed. The temperament test intends to show, with the greatest possible degree of certainty, which dogs fulfill the criteria of the SRC and only those should be accepted for further breeding. This forms the first prerequisite for holding the Rottweiler in today's urban society, as well as holding the Rottweiler as a companion, sports, service and/or working dog. Dogs with deficiencies or faulty behavior do not meet the requirements called for in the Standard Breed. These dogs can undoubtedly be a danger to their environment independent of whether they are kept as family, service or working dogs. It is therefore important that the dog must have, to a marked extent, the desired essential characteristics of the breed. Logically this means that only dogs should be bred further which show a friendly and peaceful attitude consistent with the Breed Standard. In a non-threatening situation, these are above all: steady nerves, high internal security and goodness. In the military test, these are above all: intrepidity, inner security, desired sharpness and hardness. Insecure, anxious, stressed dogs, those with missing or low gun-sureness, those with a lack of protective drive or unwanted sharpness, are not allowed to pass the temperament test and thus should not be used for further breeding. The Breed Feasibility Test is subdivided into a conformation grading evaluation, gun-sureness and a Guard and Defense test. Stimmt das?

The surveyor evaluates the dog according to type, construction in stance, limbs, gait, teeth, hair, etc. according to the Breed Standard of the FCI for the Rottweiler breed. Reasons to exclude from breeding are listed as breed specific disqualifying faults. If the dogs inspected by the surveyor show a negative behavior (for example: dogs which do not allow the surveyor to measure their length, deny dentition or testicular control) the evaluation is terminated. Dogs that do not meet these requirements may be deferred for later re-examination.

The gun-sureness test is done by shooting at least 20 meters laterally from the dog. Two shots, 6 to 9 mm caliber, are fired in succession into the air. The dog needs to stay calm and is not allowed to be influenced by its owner.

The Guard and Defence Test is done similarly to the IPO level 1 test.

The coronation of breeding is the licensing (Körung). This aims to pull out the best dogs for breeding. For licensing, higher conditions are imposed. The admission to the licensing is approximately the same as that for the Breadability Test. An aborted or failed Breadability Test or failed licensing can be repeated twice. If the Breadability test failed three times, the Rottweilers are excluded from breeding.

Dogs who have been qualified as being breeding dogs by fulfilling the ADRK or OeRK regulations, are recognized as breeders in Switzerland as well. Following an import assessment, these dogs are then approved for breeding by the

Behavioural Assessment: First aid as per judge instruction

SRC. The import inspection is carried out by an SRC-Temperament Test judge and an SRC exhibition judge.

Behavioral Assessment

This deals with how the dog and the owner interact, handle each other. The behavioral assessment begins with an in-depth and documented survey on the dog owner's life and habitat. The next step is to analyze the behavior of the dog in a peaceful situation in relation to foreigners and towards various acoustic and optical environmental influences. The desired and undesired behavior of the dog is documented step by step. At the end, summary is given of the dogs a) excitability, b) calming, c) temperament, c) binding to its owner, d) reaction to environmental irritation, and e) comments and recommendations for the dog owner. The behavioral assessment is not a breeding measure.

The book you have been waiting for :

It is unique and cannot be found in any bookstore. A re-edit of the book written by one of the founders of the IFR, president of the ADRK : A. Pienkoss. Not just another story about the Roman butchers' dog but a thorough historic study of a magnificent breed, offering 535 illustrated pages and photo's on its history, present and future, its consecutive breedstandards, etc ...

you do not want it missing in your library!

Here was someone, who wrote down everything he knew about Rottweilers and his experience with them and made a book of it. It was not just anyone, it was Adolf Pienkoss. Perhaps that is why the book is a little like him: comprehensive, multifaceted and not easy to digest in one sitting. One must take one's time. Some sections are fascinating and the reader is eager to read on; others are read more critically or only with great difficulty and some will be deferred until later, when problems arise and expert advice is needed. It is not a book for beginners; it is a reference book which has become indispensable to everyone devoted to the Rottweiler.

Fr. Schwandt in „Rottweiler-Nachrichten“ 3/1983

This book is far more than just a description of a breed. Here, the reader learns about the historical development of dog breeding – a subject not everyone is familiar with – and about cynology in Germany. The work is enhanced by numerous scientific articles written by renowned cynologists and behaviourists. The author appreciates the use of illustrations and uses plenty of them to help explain the text. Tips on how to keep and train dogs complete the book. Pienkoss' was a dog lover and the experience he gathered over a period of many years is evident here. This book is a gift – by writing it, the author has rendered a valuable service to us all.

Herbert Stemmi in „Deutscher Hundesport“ 3/1984

This new edition of Adolf Pienkoss' book guarantees that future generations will also be able to share his wealth of knowledge and experience with Rottweilers. This book is an essential reference work for all real Rottweiler lovers and breed fans. At the same time, this new enlarged edition shows how in today's ever-faster changing society and the consequences thereof – positive or negative – greater demands are made of us and of our Rottweilers.

Kepala – Australia, animal resort

By Samanta Bradley
(Stolzsein Rottweilers)

Kepala Bday party

Kepala Pet Resort is located approximately 20km from the centre of Melbourne, Australia. We are very fortunate to have such a great facility in Melbourne. The swimming pools at Kepala offer a great all round the year experience. The heated pool is not only used for recreational fun but for also to help dogs recovering from surgeries such as cruciate repairs and in a therapeutic way to help with recovery for other injuries to rebuild lost muscle with low impact activity, it is also used for older dogs that need to keep mobile. Swimming is a great form of exercise to build up cardio fitness. The indoor pool is well used by many dogs such as show, obedience, working dogs and general pets and helps with overall cardiovascular conditioning for dogs.

Kepala Karen Kidsn Edge

Kepala

The outdoor pool is designed with a tropical feel and isn't heated. It can be very cold in Melbourne in winter and the demand for the pool drops off over our cooler months. The outdoor pool caters for those dogs that like to jump into the water and those that like to walk into it. It is in extreme high demand in our warmer months and it is very hard to get a booking over the weekends and sometimes you have to book a month or so in advance especially in our December January summer.

Kepala is a favourite with our dogs. We attend Kepala weekly with our dogs. They enjoy the pools as both offer room to move and to swim. We have been taking our dogs to Kepala for many years and a small group of us meet weekly to let our dogs have some water fun. The dogs have a great time. The two male Rottweilers, EJ and Edge enjoy racing each other off the back of the pool and launching into the water to retrieve their toys. My older girl CC much prefers to walk into the pool and retrieve her toy with out all bravdo of the boys and their antics. We have had many other breeds share the pool with our Rottweilers and they have all enjoyed the company.

For the humans we too are catered for as they also have grassy areas that offer BBQ's and semi kitchens that we can use to prepare food and to have a party with the dogs. There is also an agility area and a sand run as well as other grassed off leash areas. Many dog clubs and group use these areas as well as they pool to get together and celebrate such things as birthday parties and end of year break up parties from their dog clubs. Kepala also has grooming facilities with areas to wash and dry the dogs.

About Kepala - Owners, Kevin and Pauline Lacy first built Kepala Pet Motel for dog and cat boarding in 1973. Their aim was for Kepala to become a 5 star establishment, offering top quality accommodation and care. Kennels, modern catteries, boutique suites and tropical landscapes were introduced – Kepala Pet Motel became Kepala Pet Resort.

Having realised that dream, they had a vision to provide a recreational facility that exceeded expectations and opportunities for dogs and their owners. In 2005 the Kepala Canine Country Club was opened, a place where dogs could run free off lead in safe enclosed play areas. They could take a swim in the heated pool or outdoor lagoon pool, run through sand or just chill out and watch the scenic landscape of Diggers Rest picturesque valleys.

We are very lucky to have this facility available to us and we know our dogs enjoy the weekly visits.

l'Union Française pour le Rottweiler IPO National Championship 2016

By Dirk Vandecasteele
dirk.vandecasteele@telenet.be

Arkan de Dacarvill - Mr. Rivaud

Was I willing to not only judge the French Clubshow (UFR) on Sunday 1st May 2016 but also the IPO- Clubchampionship IPO on Saturday 30.04.2016. Does a cat like milk? Of course I was willing! It would be great should every club have the chance to organize a whole week-end to feast the Rottweiler in his whole concept as a utility breed: his physical + mental compliance to the breed standard, a wet dream for all Rottweiler lovers and in particular for every judge certified to judge both show and IPO.

7 Rottweilers were entered for the event, 1 in preliminary class, 2 in class I, 1 in class II and 3 in class III.

I remember that arriving at the tracking fields was a brutal wake-up call: vast plowed fields, a sun drenched desert of bone-dry and stone-hard dirt on which no step was visible, furrowed with grooves that were so deep that it was impossible to cross the fields without having to almost jump over them, trenches that forced the dogs to step in and out and to lie across them as if they were a bridge to indicate the objects...

Honestly, I love judging the tracking-part of the IPO-program, I have judged many trials including many FH-trials and have trained and judged on all sorts of surfaces but now I was even seriously considering to ask the club's track manager to find other fields.

Evi'Sha'Am Von der Kroning Keiser (F. Arnoux)

These fields were just too dry, too hard and too uneven to give the dogs a fair chance to prove themselves. At least, that is what I thought and boy... was I wrong!

If I was already amazed that the dogs were able to find and pick up the scent of the track, I was more than surprised to see how deep, concentrated, persistently and faultless they worked! The very high scores were well deserved and not one point was given for free! Again my congratulations to all! Your dogs reminded me why I love this part of the IPO-program and why I am even convinced that the track is a better instrument than the sleeve to judge a dog's true nature. On the track there is no conditioned reaction provoked by the sight of the sleeve, no provocation by the helper, no prey or reward in sight or in reach. There is just a thin little post that indicates the beginning of the track and from there on, alone, 10 meters in front of the handler with no help nor encouragement, there is nothing but hard concentrated work for which the dog needs a good physical condition, a high willingness to work, a strong character, the intelligence to overcome difficulties and of course a high endurance. Just beautiful! During the wait before starting with the obedience part, we had the chance to enjoy the Rottweiler at work during a (French) ring-trial. Once again an occasion to marvel about the Rottweilers versatility.

they were too high because it was clear that not all dogs were ready for this trial. I saw excellent performances in individual exercises but this was not carried over the whole. I will admit that circumstances were not ideal, certainly not for the less experienced dogs in the lower IPO-classes. We came just out of winter and were not yet in full training-season, the trial was organized on an unknown field on which many dogs had tried just before the IPO-routines started, the dogs had to work with and on totally unfamiliar devices, a numerous public stood close to the blind and the jumps, the blinds were tents and for some dogs unfamiliar,...

The disqualifications and most heavy losses of points happened during the call out of the blind, not because of weakness of character. Still, even if scores were not high, I enjoyed the trial and the work of each dog.

All deserved and earned our respect and as I said in my closing speech: I thank and congratulate all handlers for their trust in their dogs, their passion for the breed and for their courage to participate a National Championship before the eyes of all. What you did today was more than competing, it was showing the Rottweiler (especially to the "best mates on shore") where all Rottweilers belong and should be: the working field! Dirk Vandecasteele.

dog, what to do if some dog attacks child, how to understand and feel dog's mood.

Children often treat dogs as their peers; they hug, cuddle, hold and scold them. Children express affection for their family through close facial contact e.g. kissing. While this may seem sweet, a dog may find this threatening and it can be quite dangerous.

For these reasons young children are more likely to be bitten than any other group and research shows that children are far more likely to be bitten by their family dog than any others.

After this lesson we hear many great comments from parents, teachers. We are invited to have more education lesson led by Rottweiler.

Me and Gama presented a set of professional materials how to help understand and recognise dog behaviour making it easier for children to stay safe and dogs happy.

Over 130 1-4 grade children joined our meeting. We can name it short seminar at school.

INT CH, 7 old years female Gama with great attitude to children presented Rottweiler breed as dog teacher.

Dogs and children can be great friends, but also can get into huge problems together.

Lithuania cinological organization presented Lithuania Rottweiler club all education material prepared by professionals and adopted in the best way for kids. Interesting slides, pictures, stories.

Having a dog can help children develop kindness, understanding and respect for living things. Dog companionship can improve a child's social skills with people and caring for a pet can encourage responsibility.

We need to teach our children correct behaviour with dogs.

Children quickly understand and learn to treat the dog as part of the family but it is important that parents teach children how to stay safe around dogs, to protect both child and dog.

From a dog's point of view, children communicate differently to adults. Dogs find it hard to understand children and even harder to tell them when they want to be left alone!

Rottweiler Working and Breeding Association 33th annual breed championship show – 23 – 24 July 2016.

By Dirk Vandecasteele
dirk.vandecasteele@telenet.be

Kimshoaz Viggo (H. Valli) 1 V open dog

Rottweiler Working and Breeding Association
33th annual breed championship show
– 23 – 24 July 2016.
It was a long time already since I had judged in South-Africa and I admit that I accepted the invitation with mixed feelings and some reservations. The reason was that the first time I judged the South African Rottweiler, I found him then to lack both type and structure and I left this beautiful country with memories of it's magnificent nature and of the warm friendly people I had met but with only less than a handful of excellent gradings. In fact, I only kept a memory of two imported females in open class and of one strong male in youth class, so what would the show bring this time ... ?

First of all, my thanks to the club for the invitation, their trust and truly warm welcome ! It is amazing how quickly and easily the shared passion for the Rottweiler creates an unstudied trust and bond between people. The organization was flawless : the show was organized on a field with a perfect surface, the ring was more than large enough to judge movement and all logistics and garniture were present to make it the perfect show it was.
I really enjoyed the show (though one male left a permanent "impression" on

(not in) my chest ...). In fact, if the dogs that were shown to me last time and now at this show were indeed representative for the South African Rottweiler, then I must say that his "quality" or rather his compliance to the breedstandard has certainly improved in recent years.
My winning male Rafa of Royal Breed and his reserve Kimshoaz Viggo (who passed the Breed Suitability Test the day after the show in a more than convincing manner !) and also my winning female Ravenscrest Rhaine would stand out in any ring. Large, excellent in type and substance, correct bone, deep wide chests, very good angulations, harmonious natural movements ... My remarks were that in the male I might have preferred a just little longer upper-arm and for the female a stronger top-line but indeed excellent representatives of the breed and, as I learned afterwards, both are consistent show-winners, Here also, importing dogs and/or semen has brought more type and substance but also the same structural faults we see worldwide and that have consolidated themselves in the genepool. How this is possible ? Well, probably because of the too deep impact of too few dogs on the genepool and of course because faults are too often left unpunished or unremarked upon. I will not make myself popular with this but we really must be much more stringent in judging and grading the Rottweiler. Showing tolerance for "details" may sometimes be called for but the sum of tolerances can be too high. Also, I can only speak for myself, but when we discuss the Rottweiler, I hate hearing people talk about faults being "details". On the body of a working dog, whose physics were defined for one purpose only and that was his original utility usage, details can only be of an aesthetic nature. Everything else touches his fitness to function and thus his compliance to the essentials of the breed standard. Nothing of a nature to influence stability, balance or movement can be called a detail, at least not for a breed that originated as a cattle drover and believe me, besides pigmentation, eyecolor, markings, ... there is not much about the Rottweiler's physical features that does not influence his utility. One general but serious problem that I remarked upon at this show (and not in this country alone) : a general and very noticeable loss of size ! Our standard is tolerant. Size of males may vary between 61 – 68 cm and for females between 56 – 63 cm. What is too often ignored is that the standard explicitly states the ideal and thus the wanted size : for the male 65 – 66 cm, for the female 60-61 cm ! Size defines in an important measure the type of the breed, again also for its original utility reasons. I remember learning from Mrs. Brink, Swedish judge, that in Sweden not less than up to 37 % of the Rottweilers in the showing – and these are the dogs said to be the “best” specimens - were found to be too small and thus out of the standard ! This is a staggering percentage and its consequence is that in the end, judges start to see this size as “normal” ! For this reason, in Sweden, as a help for the judge to assess the dogs on their compliance to the standard, all Rottweilers are now measured in an adjoining ring before they enter the showing.

I will not say that the loss of size has reached the same extent in South Africa, but if Rottweiler breeders are not made aware of this, I fear that it might come to that in the near future. I have repeatedly emphasized this, both in the ring as after the show during the awards ceremony.

How to prevent or remediate this ? Well, the first step is of course to know and then to acknowledge the problem. Knowledge can only be achieved by measuring the dog while acknowledging the problem must be part of breeding policies. The judges' part in this can be his decision not to reward the small dog with the highest grading or at least not with the best placements. Can a dog with a size on the lower limit still be graded as excellent ? I'll let you answer the question yourself ... but for me, while of course not impossible, this is difficult.

An important instrument that every club must put at the disposal of its members is the BST or Breed Suitability Test, just like the one that was organized here on the day after the show. The IFR even demands in its Constitution that all its Memberclubs organize such tests as part of their breeding regulations. An essential part of such a test is precisely measuring the dogs in all their details and proportions : size, length, depth and circumference of the chest, length of skull and muzzle, eyecolor. To be effective, these tests should in my opinion not only be organized at the occasion of an annual show but at regular intervals during the year so breeders can effectively use it before breeding their dogs. Participating these tests should be obligatory for all breeding dogs and results should be published or made available. As I say so often, a show is not just a fun-event or a competition to win the biggest tin dust catcher on the cupboard. It is the occasion where you take your dog to get the objective advise of an independant specialist on your dog's compliance to the breedstandard. This advise, completed with the detailed and measured results of the BST, should offer much of the knowledge the breeder needs to improve his breeding. Leonardo da Vinci said that all our knowledge stems from our observation, François-Augustin de Paradis de Moncrif said that to know has the advantage of having to consider less but being able to judge better ... I dare add a quality in between these truths and that no good breeder can do without : an open mind and readiness to see and accept reality. I wish the South-African Rottweiler all the best ... I've seen him in good hands !!

Wilsam Bacio (AM Pillay) 1V junior male

Bali island, Indonesia – if I told that I would judge the show in this island few years ago I would not believe. Bali is well known for all of us as paradise island, we all have heard about its beauty. I would hardly imagine Rottweiler specialty show in paradise! Life is full of surprises and all is possible! With pleasure I took invitation of KRI Bali team invitation to judge on 5th of November in Sanur-Denpansar, Bali. It was 6 years break in Rottweilers specialty show in Bali.

I was told, that it is quite difficult for dogs to enter Bali island, reason is rabies. Saturday morning after short rest I was ready to judge the most interesting show for me. I was wondering what kind of Rottweilers live in Bali. Weather conditions are not the best, how do they look, how they can be trained in such difficult climate for our breed? What is their quality if it is quite difficult to import or travel for breeding with female out of island? Really many questions in my head... Show was held in huge Inna Grand Bali Beach hotel area. Almost all in ring was in tree shadow and had huge tent as well. I still not used for Bali's climate and felt like in some kind of sauna. Great handmade wooden trophies were waiting almost for all participants.

Beautiful diplomas. All arranged in top level. Totally 26 Rottweilers at the show. To my pleasure all in great condition, excellent quality and no doubt professionally prepared and well looking! Almost all dogs were showed by people with knowledge how to do it. Adult dogs had good substance and were well prepared. I am very happy to see dogs who are beloved and have great care of them. All with super pigmentation and eye color. Classes according to the age in Indonesia are named little different as in Europe. Puppy A (3-6 months) VP1 Lokal female - Keysha von Rottlander. Puppy B (6-9 months) VP1 Lokal female - Yasmin von der Bosch. Best puppy. Excellent type, strong bone, very well developed, correct substance and excellent built female. With great movement, presentation and preparation for the show. Top class puppy in any strongest concurrence in the world. Puppy C (9-12 months) VP1 Lokal female - Fibi von Candi Group. After spending great time on Bali island I had to fly to judge one more exciting show in Indonesia: - Surabaya region organized also by Klub Rottweiler Indonesia (KRI) in mountain area Trawas-Pasuruan, Jawa Timur.

About one hour journey to mountains and you feel fresh air. Easy to understand why this area has so many villas and people enjoy coming here for weekends or holidays: - weather here is cooler, more fresh. To our surprise on our way to beautiful waterfall we saw huge pine trees! They were same as in Europe, standing among palms and other tropical plants...

Some kennels are located in mountain area, this is much better climate conditions for dogs, they live cooler and it is possible to train them without danger.

Show was held in beautiful place with great views in kennel "Von der Zeit Bombe" villa. Great show field, huge shadow tent in ring, also tents for participants who came across Indo-

Great huge trophies were waiting for main winners.

Quality of dogs was very high, as I told to KRI members I was so happy to see excellent show condition dogs with such substance, we should remember, that weather conditions are not the best for our breed.

Judging started with Baby class females. They were so strong I took them like males!

Puppy females: 8 females were presented, all were very well prepared. Top placed girls showed top class quality.

Junior class females 9. Only few females had weaker elbows and soft top line. Almost all with excellent temperament.

Open female presented correct bones and very good substance. Some had very firm toes, some loose, only one female was rated SG. Winner super female Raket Timit Tor in strong concur-

Working female Gitta von der Alten Festung excellent type, showed great temperament and presentation, really deserved to be called show star! She loves to be in ring, her attitude and expression hides all her small mistakes in her head. This the dog you love to look. She became best female and BOS.

Champion females. 2 females presented both very nice. Winner became import female : Chuci Teresky Dvur.

Males gave me lots of thinking and motivating my placements. I really happy to see that Indonesia breeders are clever and do not chase pug head males. Mostly all imported and local breeding males had correct heads , not too extreme. Congratulation for that!

Puppy males(6-9 months). Winner very strong bone, very well developed, strong substance showed great movement , no loose parts or soft top line. Professionally prepared: - Vidi von der Zeit Bombe, also became Best local puppy.

His coat was cut! You could see it from distance. I gave long explanation, that Rottweiler is not Doberman and Rottweiler hair should be strong and middle length, as this coat protects animal from sun, cold or rain. It was really sad as male was one from the best males in this ring. sented to all. All had possibility to discuss about the show and enjoy time together. I would like to congratulate Asia Friends for such nice hospitality to all, for invitation and once more for great care of us during our stay in Indonesia! With best regards and looking forward to see you in Europe shows and maybe someday to be back in your country to explore it and see great dogs and top handlers.

Now with fresh meat

- now with fresh muscle meat!

Is the source and the composition of the food for your dog also very important for you? Then simply test the new BELCANDO® Super-Premium Dry Food - made in Germany. What is special about it: The new recipes include now fresh muscle meat. This is made possible by the worldwide unique BEWITAL Thermal mix process. Similar to the steaming in the health-conscious cuisine this process uses almost exclusively water vapor for the digestion of nutrients. The advantage: Vitamins and other natural ingredients remain intact. At the same time the new BELCANDO® tastes again significantly better to the dogs.
